About MDAA

MDAA aims to promote, protect and secure the rights and interests of people with disability and their families and carers, with particular focus on culturally and linguistically diverse (CALD)/ non-English speaking (NES) background.

Our vision is a society where everyone, regardless of background or disability feels welcomed, included and supported.

MDAA has offices in the Sydney suburbs of Granville, Hurstville and Waterloo; and in the NSW regions of Newcastle, Wollongong, Bega and Griffith.

What is Individual Advocacy?

Individual advocacy means supporting you to speak up for your rights.

MDAA support people with disability with a particular focus on CALD/NES background.

This includes issues with housing, immigration, health services, social security, school, work, disability services or the police.

MDAA's Individual Advocates can support you to understand your rights, so you can make your own decisions and get what you need.

What happens when I contact MDAA?

When you contact MDAA an Individual Advocate will talk to you about your problem and the support you need.

This helps the Individual Advocate to understand what your problem is and whether advocacy will help solve the problem. If you need and interpreter the Individual Advocate will organise a telephone interpreter.

What can the Individual Advocate do to support me?

After finding out about your issue the Individual Advocate may:

- ▶ give you information so you can get the services you need
- ▶ support you to make a complaint
- ▶ support you to attend a meeting about your issue
- ▶ help you to get advice
- ▶ refer you to another service that can assist you with your issue
