

Women with Disability in NSW

We represent over half of all people with disability.

We represent almost 20% of all women.

Only 16% of us have completed high school.

We are less likely to be in paid work and are in the lowest income earning brackets.

We are often forced to live in situations in which we are vulnerable to violence.

We are more likely to be victims of sexual assault.

We are less likely to receive appropriate women's health services and preventative screening procedures.

We are more likely to have been unlawfully sterilised.

It's time to raise our voices!

NSW Network of Women with Disability

Often, organisations for women do not know or talk about the issues that affect us.

Often, organisations for people with disability do not know or talk about the issues that affect us.

We need a place where our experiences as women with disability are acknowledged and respected.

We need to be able to come together to support each other.

We need a place where we can connect, be involved and bring about change.

Women with disability are coming together to:

build a community in which we can share our stories, knowledge and skills

create a place where we can celebrate our individual and collective differences as women with disability connect

share ideas

share experiences

support each other work towards inclusion and equality for women with disability
